CARROT TOP
By
R. Robert Evans

Getting closer and closer to the "retirement date" I have become more and more interested in what it contains and how it is reached, so the other day I had a very good chance to have a good long talk with a retired business executive and my one question to him was "what was the secret of your success?"

— CT —

His answer to the question was very quick and exacting; his explanation somewhat longer, but his first reply was: "I have summed up my success in three words . . . 'And then some'.

— CT —

And he continued, "I discovered at an early age, that most of the difference between average people and top people could be explained in three words. The top people did what was expected of them . . . and then some.

"They were thoughtful of others; they were considerate and kind . . . and then some. They met their obligations and responsibilities fairly and squarely . . . and then some. They were good friends and helpful neighbors . . . and then some. They could be counted on in any emergency . . . and then some."

— CT —

You know, I am indeed thankful for people like that, for they make the world more livable, for their spirit of service is summed up in the three little words, "And then some."

— CT —

Of course all of us try things that will make us better people. We try and please our bosses, we all try and do the right thing and then some! It reminds me of a story about a fellow that was consistently late to work and his boss was very unhappy about the situation and demanded that he find some method of being on time or he would have to be replaced. The story went something like this . . .

— CT —

"Well," said the boss, "I'm glad to see that you are arriving punctually these days, pray tell me how did you solve the problem."

"Well, sir, you see I bought a parrot," remarked the employee. "What on earth does a parrot have to do with you getting to work on time. I told you to buy an alarm clock."

"I did. But after a day or two I got used to it and it didn't wake me anymore. So I got a parrot and now when I go to bed I fix the parrot's cage on top of it. What that bird says when the alarm goes off would wake up old King Tut himself!" . . . And really there are many, many ways that a person can do things . . . And then some.

— CT —

Of course being an employer and boss I have long believed that there was something true in reincarnation theories that I have been reading about, and judging by the way some people come back to life at quitting time, I am sure there are some basic facts thereto. Of course for the life of me I wouldn't mention any names at this time.

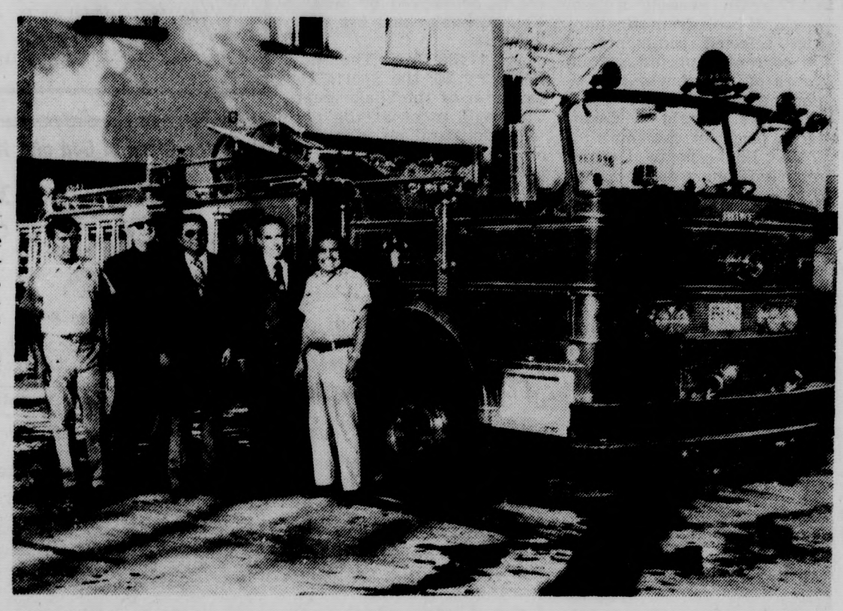

— CT —

Being somewhat close to the situation, I have for a long time been amused at the difference between Physicians and Auto Body Men. They just seem to have something in common that keeps each of them rangled at the other. And to let you know exactly what I am talking about, the following is a conversation that I heard between a pair of them recently . . .

— CT —

Dissatisfied with the way his car had been repaired a surgeon complained to the Auto Body Man with the following remarks: "If I re-

THIS YEAR as a part of the Bicentennial celebration, the Los Angeles County Fire Department will host approximately 150 firefighters from Mexico for intensive fire training during the period of February 8 to 14. The program begins with the "Bomberos" being picked up at Mexicali on February 7 and returned on February 14. Pictured above is one of their units and the fire personnel.

County Fire To Host Men From Mexico Fire Depts.

This year, as part of the Bicentennial celebration, the Los Angeles County Fire Department will host approximately 150 fire fighters from Mexico for intensive fire training during the period of February 8-14. The program begins with the "Bomberos" being picked up in Mexicali on February 7, and transported via bus caravan, to the Los Angeles County Park and Hall in East Los Angeles where they will receive a welcome and dinner.

Part of the welcome program will feature the presentation of a Bicentennial flag to the president of the Mexican Fire Chief's Association. After dinner, cooperating cities will then pick up the Bomberos they will be hosting (housing) during the training period. Firefighters in 22 cities are cooperating by housing and furnishing meals to the Mexican firefighters during their visit.

The Fire Service of California has offered this "hands across the border" fire training program to Mexican firefighters for the past ten years. The program is designed to educate the Bomberos in the proper methods, techniques, theory and practical mechanical skills of firefighting. It is anticipated that the program this year will be even more successful than in past years.

The program is financed entirely by donations from fire service personnel and private industry. The money is used to transport the Bomberos, house and feed them, underwrite the expense of printed training materials, graduation ceremonies, certificates of completion and dinner in their honor at the end of the training period.

Cable Rates Reduced By Amendments

At the regular meeting of the City Council held on Tuesday, January 27, Resolution No. 76-3 alluding to the rate increases supposedly granted to Teleprompter T.V. Cable by the City on Jan. 17 were amended.

Councilman Abernethy, having a change in heart, made the statement that the "Burden of Proof" was on Teleprompter Cable T.V. and the rate of $7.05 was sanctioned, but the increase as of December 1 to $7.50 was nullified until such time as the promised repairs and quality of service were brought up to perfection, at which time Teleprompter could reapply for the additional rate and it could be reconsidered.

Councilman Abernethy also made the motion that charges for secondary sets be reduced as of February 1 from the pending price of $2 to $1.25 as being paid in Arcadia. The Resolution was so amended by a 4 to 1 vote and will be the set charges until future negotiations. Installation charge remains at $16.75.

Nursery School To Open Registration

How would you like to enroll your 2½- to 5-year old next fall in an internationally - famous child - centered school in Sierra Madre?

The Sierra Madre Community Nursery School, founded in 1947, is built around the philosophy of meeting the needs of the individual child. Set in a rustic park-like environment, the school is furnished with a wide variety of exciting, architect - designed and parent - built play equipment. Publisher of a handbook widely used in early childhood education centers, the school is also the centerpoint of motion pictures on play equipment and creative approaches to pre-school education.

The nursery school program is divided into four age groups, each with its own room and play yard. Children attend either two or three mornings a week from 9 to 12. Nursery schoolers may choose outdoor play on the ingeniously designed climbing equipment built by the school fathers or indoor art activities involving a broad and innovative selection of materials. Well-supervised efforts in carpentry and cooking are not only good fun — they also help to build the child's sense of mastery and self-esteem.

Parents are involved in staffing, planning, and actually physically building Sierra Madre Community Nursery School. Each month, a parent participates one morning in his or her own child's class, and in a discussion group on the nursery school and the problems of parenthood. Evening lectures on child development are given throughout the year. Parents may also become

2nd Year Tabulation By Unified School District

STUDENTS FROM PRIVATE SCHOOLS RETURNING

by Dr. Richard Vetterli
Vice President, Pasadena Board of Education

Of significant importance to the Pasadena Unified School District and the community is the fact that the declining enrollment, exacerbated by "white flight," which averaged well over a thousand students a year since the beginning of forced busing in 1970, was stemmed in 1974 with an amazing 646 net increase in student enrollment.

Enrollment figures from October 1974 to October 1975 also showed a net increase — this time 78 students, for a total of 718 students in a two year period.

The large number of entering students at every grade level also indicates that impressive numbers of families with children are once again moving into our community. This is further attested to by the dramatic upturn in property values of the past two years.

This abrupt turnabout from declining to increasing enrollment also indicates a growing and significant improvement in the respect and confidence of the community in our schools over the past two years.

Of this increase in enrollment, of great importance is the fact that hundreds of students are now returning to the District from private and parochial schools. During the 1973-74 school year, nearly a thousand (989) of these students enrolled in our public schools. They compriser over 30 per cent of the total number of new students. The ethnic breakdown is as follows: 734 (74.2%) anglo; 159 (16.1%) black; 73 (7.9%) Spanish surname; 18 (1.8%) other.

Of these new students, 524 (53%) enrolled in the regular schools; 465 (47%) enrolled in the special schools — 429 at the Fundamental Schools and 36 at the Alternative School.

As of October 10, 1975, 402 additional students have entered the Pasadena Unified School District from private and parochial schools. The ethnic breakdown is as follows: 276 (68.7%) Anglo: 73 (18.2%) black; 36 (8.9%) Spanish surname; 17 (4.2%) other.

Of these new students, 159 (36.9%) are attending the regular schools, and 243 (60.4%) are attending the special schools — 225 at the Fundamental Schools and 18 at the Alternative School.

Thus, in a two year period, this school district has been able to entice approximately 1,391 students from private and parochial schools back into our public schools. This is a remarkable statistic probably unequalled anywhere else in the country and further attracts to the growing respect in our community for th Pasadena Unified School District.

Significantly, the overwhelming majority of these students returning from private and parochial schools, or 1,010 are Anglo. The importance of this impact on the racial balance of the District needs no elaboration.

When the number of entering students from private and parochial schools is evaluated grade by grade, the magnet effect of our special schools becomes clearly evident. Those who are seeking to eliminate our special schools certainly do not have the interests of the school district as their motivation.

On the other hand, many of the above students are voluntarily locating in our regular schools, another indication of the greatly improved image of our school system over what it was two years ago.

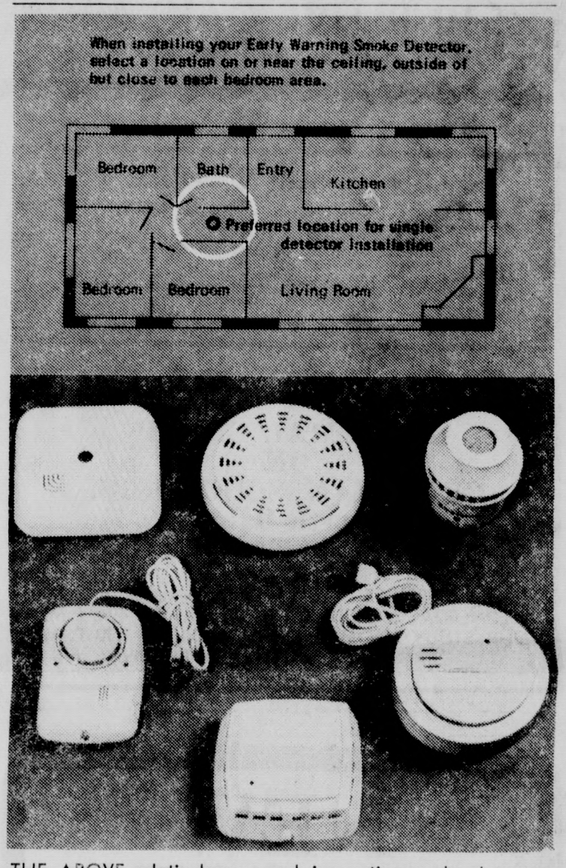

The Board of Education wishes to extend to the administration and the staff of our schools our heartfelt gratitude for their efforts in helping make these remarkable statistics possible.

However, our attendance and enrollment records also demonstrate certain very real problems amid our successes. Although the district was able to attract 3,234 new students (not counting the 1,859 entering kindergarteners) between October 1973 and October 1974, during the same period of time, 2,698 students (not including the 1,755 graduating seniors) withdrew from the district.

Between October 1974 and October 1975, the district enrolled 2,723 (not including 1,996 kindergarteners), but lost 2,701 students (not including 1,940 graduating seniors) during the same period of time.

To be sure, this mobility is faced by most urban districts. However, the large number of "exists" from our school district is far greater than it should be and represents a serious problem. At the present time, the Pasadena Unified School District places at the 78th percentile in student mobility statewide; that is, nearly 80 per cent of the 1,100 districts in the State of California have less student mobility than we do.

Obviously, forced busing adds materially to our inordinately high mobility rate. Unless we can gain relief from this counter-productive court mandate, there is no hope to curtail this drainage of our student body or to maintain a cerditable racial balance in the district by stopping "white flight." To refuse to face this reality is tantamount to sticking one's proverbial "head" into the proverbial "sand."

THE ABOVE relatively new and innovative smoke detectors can save your life, the lives of loved ones and your property. In the interest of fire and life safety, every home should have at least one installed. Those shown above have been approved and listed by the State of California Fire Marshal.

Could Save Your Family's Life

State Fire Marshal Gives Smoke Detector Approval

Smoke detectors are as the name implies, a sensitive, self-contained device that can detect lethal smoke, the cause of most fatalities in a fire. They operate effectively on battery or electricity, depending on the type purchased. Both types should be tested regularly to make sure that they are operational. A minimum of once a month testing is recommended.

Smoke detectors give an early alarm to the household when smoke or other products of combustion are detected by the device, thus saving lives and reducing property loss. They offer safety while you sleep because early stages of smoke, which seldom awaken you, is sensed by the smoke detector and the alarm is given.

Section 1413, Uniform Building Code (used by Sierra Madre Fire Department, now requires that all new construction of dwellings be equipped with an approved products of combustion detector, i.e., it must detect smoke! Smoke detectors are required to be approved by the State Fire Marshal. No others should be used. Check the detector for approval before you buy it.

The types that have been approved are the photoelectric and ionization type. Heat operated detectors may be used only as added protection. If puzzled check with your local Fire Marshal, Richard Probart at 355-1414.

The cost of a smoke detector varies according to the manufacturer but is generally under $50, a small price for life safety from fire.

Smoke detectors should be mounted on the ceiling at a point centrally located in the corridor or area giving access to rooms used for sleeping purposes. Where rooms used for such purposes are located on an upper level, the detector shall be placed at the center of the ceiling directly above the stairway. Do not place near heater - air conditioning vents.

The installation of smoke detectors in existing homes is not required but your fire department strongly recommends that every home have at least one smoke detector installed.

Sierra Madre Fire Chief Charles Brown urges all citizens having questions concerning these lifesaving devices to visit the Fire Marshal's office where he will explain and show pictures of other devices.

General Telephone Company and Employees Give $637,800 To Campaign

General Telephone Company of Calif. has pledged more than $637,800 during the company's recent 1975-76 AID-United Givers campaign, a two per cent increase over the previous year, spokesmen for the utility said today.

The telephone company and the Communications Workers of America annually appeal to the utility's employees for contributions to AID, an association of donors that provides key support to most of Southern California's major health, youth and welfare organizations.

Employee pledges for the current year totaled $582,867.20. Added to that figures was the General Telephone Company's annual corporate gift of $55,000.

In the company's Eastern Area operation, headquartered in Pomona and serving many communities in the San Gabriel and Pomona Valley, San Bernardino, Redlands and Palm Springs areas, total employee contributions were $161,120 with 78 per cent of the area's 4,547 employees contributing.

Company-wide results show that of the 17,533 employees of General of California, 76 per cent made either pledges or cash contributions to AID.

Now in its sixth year as a member chapter of AID-United Givers, General Telephone and its employees have contributed more than $2.5 million to bona fide charitable organizations.

Services Wed. For William Schwartz

Memorial services were held Wednesday, January 28 for William H. Schwartz, age 78, who passed away on Saturday, January 24, in Huntington Memorial Hospital after a lengthy iliness.

William lived at 282 East Highland Avenue, was an engineer by trade, having been an employee of the Civil Areonautics Administration and former Assistant City Engineer for the City of Sierra Madre for approximately 10 years. He was a veteran of World War I.

Memorial services were held at 11:30 a.m. in the Sierra Madre Congregational Church with the Rev. Gary Lucht officiating.

William came to California and Sierra Madre some 65 years ago from the State of Pennsylvania. In parting this life he leaves his wife Mary E. of the home address; a son, William B. of Highland Park and a daughter Katherine Silvera of Solano Beach, also a grandchild.

Interment was in Sierra Madre Cemetery with the Ripple Mortuary making all of the arrangements.

Assessor Philip E. Watson Comments On Past Reforms

by Tax Assessor Philip E. Watson

An article appearing recently in the Los Angeles Times sparked Elmer Good into phoning me the other day. He read that I had proposed another tax reform initiative and called to plead with me to reconsider. He said, "Don't do it Phil, taxes will double again and homeowners will surely suffer." I explained to Elmer that the initiative was designed to prevent just that from happening but he wouldn't be dissuaded. "Maybe it's all my fault," he said. "They told me if I voted for Proposition 9 in 1968 (a tax reform initiative) that the sales tax would double and income tax would triple. I voted for it and sure enough it happened.

"In 1972, I voted for Proposition 14 (the Watson Amendment) and the same type of claim was made — the taxes would skyrocket and schools would suffer irreparable financial losses as well as a decline in the quality of education. They were right again! I voted for it, taxes have skyrocketed and schools are in a sorry state. Our high school graduates can't even read! So don't do it, Phil, it can only mean more trouble."

I told Elmer he shouldn't blame himself for the mess our present system of taxation is in, but he countered, "it's irrelevant these measures failed at the polls, I vote for them and the predictions came true." Unfortunately, I said we know the outcome would have been different had the voters taken the time to sift through the rhetoric of gloom and doom and vote in a meaningful tax reform measure. "You're right, Phil, and a lot of fixed income and other marginal homeowners would still be in their homes had taxes been spread to broader based and more palatable sources of revenue."

Elmer produced a report by the California Taxpayer's Association which outlines a shocking picture of the increase in taxes since 1968. The State budget has increased from 5.1 billion to nearly 11 billion — that's more than double in just the last eight years! "Even with the Legislature's celebrated EB 90," Elmer said, "hailed as a guarantee for corraling runaway expenditures, costs and taxes have soared. And this is only the beginning. No sooner has the Legislature enacted a law than some special interest group finds a way to circumvent it.

The school system for instance, effectively evaded the vote requirement to pass building construction bonds by having all their buildings declared not earthquake safe — and thus allowed special treatment under the law. Now that the earthquake scare is over, they have placed a measure on the June Ballot which will allow the schools to borrow money from the State Bond Fund. This will totally eliminate the necessity for an election to authorize spending of our tax dollars."

Elmer continued, "as if our burden isn't already unbearable, a large task force of our academicians is recommending to the state that another 10 billion in special education funds be allocated for their pet projects. When our high school graduates can't read we have a problem. Our schools have failed to provide basic fundamental education! At the present time, less than half the budget allocated for schools ever reaches the classroom for teaching purposes — and that's the problem in a nutshell."

As usual Elmer had done his homework and went on to inform me that, "it's fairly common knowledge that schools get state financing through a system based upon average daily attendance (ADA). It is also common knowledge that the enrollment figures for the entire state have been on the decline for the past few years in grades K through 12. One would logically conclude that the schools are obtaining less funding from the state. Not true! The last few years have witnessed an all-out campaign to enroll hundreds of thousands of adults in night school and other adult education classes The adult enrollment is then added to the declining K through 12 figure to plug up their revenue gap, and the property owner gets it again!

"New York City's dilemma is merely the tip of the iceberg" Elmer continued. "If we don't place a limit on the amount government can take, and exercise the right to designate where it is spent, the plug will be pulled on the once flourishing ocean of taxpayers and the bergs will be left high and dry." Elmer said he was "appalled at the amount of money spent on social legislation at the expense of the homeowner, the most precious commodity in the state. The homeowner is totally vulnerable to the whims of the money spenders and has no recourse but to pay and pay and pay. If he gives up and throws in the towel, his property is taken over by the State."

The irony of Elmer's truisms is that property tax is the foundation of local government. If property is confiscated it no longer generates taxes. Without taxes government services must decline. Our lawmakers have failed to face the reality of this slow self-inflicted suffocation. New York didn't believe it either!

I asked Elmer if he had made a decision about supporting a third try at limiting taxes and implementing reform. He told me, "the choice is clear, we have no alternative."

Gasoline Use Drops In State

Gasoline consumption by California motorists decreased by 4.7 per cent in November from October, according to George R. Reilly, member, State Board of Equalization.

Reilly said that November gallonage was 3.6 per cent greater than that of November 1974, but lower by 2.5 per cent than usage during November 1973, the second month of the six-month crisis.

Assessor Philip E. Watson Comments On Past Reforms

by Tax Assessor Philip E. Watson

An article appearing recently in the Los Angeles Times sparked Elmer Good into phoning me the other day. He read that I had proposed another tax reform initiative and called to plead with me to reconsider. He said, "Don't do it Phil, taxes will double again and homeowners will surely suffer." I explained to Elmer that the initiative was designed to prevent just that from happening but he wouldn't be dissuaded. "Maybe it's all my fault," he said. "They told me if I voted for Proposition 9 in 1968 (a tax reform initiative) that the sales tax would double and income tax would triple. I voted for it and sure enough it happened.

"In 1972, I voted for Proposition 14 (the Watson Amendment) and the same type of claim was made — the taxes would skyrocket and schools would suffer irreparable financial losses as well as a decline in the quality of education. They were right again! I voted for it, taxes have skyrocketed and schools are in a sorry state. Our high school graduates can't even read! So don't do it, Phil, it can only mean more trouble."

I told Elmer he shouldn't blame himself for the mess our present system of taxation is in, but he countered, "it's irrelevant these measures failed at the polls, I vote for them and the predictions came true." Unfortunately, I said we know the outcome would have been different had the voters taken the time to sift through the rhetoric of gloom and doom and vote in a meaningful tax reform measure. "You're right, Phil, and a lot of fixed income and other marginal homeowners would still be in their homes had taxes been spread to broader based and more palatable sources of revenue."

Elmer produced a report by the California Taxpayer's Association which outlines a shocking picture of the increase in taxes since 1968. The State budget has increased from 5.1 billion to nearly 11 billion — that's more than double in just the last eight years! "Even with the Legislature's celebrated EB 90," Elmer said, "hailed as a guarantee for corraling runaway expenditures, costs and taxes have soared. And this is only the beginning. No sooner has the Legislature enacted a law than some special interest group finds a way to circumvent it.

The school system for instance, effectively evaded the vote requirement to pass building construction bonds by having all their buildings declared not earthquake safe — and thus allowed special treatment under the law. Now that the earthquake scare is over, they have placed a measure on the June Ballot which will allow the schools to borrow money from the State Bond Fund. This will totally eliminate the necessity for an election to authorize spending of our tax dollars."

Elmer continued, "as if our burden isn't already unbearable, a large task force of our academicians is recommending to the state that another 10 billion in special education funds be allocated for their pet projects. When our high school graduates can't read we have a problem. Our schools have failed to provide basic fundamental education! As usual Elmer had done his homework and went on to inform me that, "it's fairly common knowledge that schools get state financing through a system based upon average daily attendance (ADA). It is also common knowledge that the enrollment figures for the entire state have been on the decline for the past few years in grades K through 12. One would logically conclude that the schools are obtaining less funding from the state. Not true! The last few years have witnessed an all-out campaign to enroll hundreds of thousands of adults in night school and other adult education classes. The adult enrollment is then added to the declining K through 12 figure to plug up their revenue gap, and the property owner gets it again!

"New York City's dilemma is merely the tip of the iceberg" Elmer continued. "If we don't place a limit on the amount government can take, and exercise the right to designate where it is spent, the plug will be pulled on the once flourishing ocean of taxpayers and the bergs will be left high and dry." Elmer said he was "appalled at the amount of money spent on social legislation at the expense of the homeowner, the most precious commodity in the state. The homeowner is totally vulnerable to the whims of the money spenders and has no recourse but to pay and pay and pay. If he gives up and throws in the towel, his property is taken over by the State."

The irony of Elmer's truisms is that property tax is the foundation of local government. If property is confiscated it no longer generates taxes. Without taxes government services must decline. Our lawmakers have failed to face the reality of this slow self-inflicted suffocation. New York didn't believe it either!

791 Woodland To Be Abated Soon

Mr. Paul Lieber, appearing before the City Council on November 11, pleaded that he wished additional time for restoration of his building at 791 Woodland Drive, claiming that he was financially short at the time but would be able to start restoration within 60 days.

At the regular Council meting of Tuesday, January 27, Mr. Lieber requested an additional six months to start the restoration.

At the time of hearing in November the City Council passed Resolution 75-54 finding that a public nuisance did exist and determined that the abatement process be commenced by the property owner within 60 days. This time was given Mr. Lieber to provide for him to begin construction and provire evidence of a continuous program of restoration.

Staff reported on field inspection that little, if any, construction progress had been made.

In view of these facts, the City Council ordered the staff to initiate abatement proceedings in accordance with the Resolution. The City Engineer will commence the abatement at his earliest possible convenience.

City Council Pays Billing

Councilman Thomas Edwards, having received the Warrant Register in the amount of $72,306.33 previous to the Council meeting, announced to the Mayor Tuesday night, the following:

"I have checked the Warrant Register with the Purchase Orders and find that all ar either budgeted items or those that have been approved by the Council as a whole, further all discounts have been taken, and I therefore move that Resolution No. 76-4 be adopted and that the Finance Officer be instructed to draw the necessary Warrants, have them duly signed by the City Administrator, Mayor and City Treasurer and dispatch them to the creditors so listed." The motion received a second and was so adopted.

Benefit Held For Local Toy Loan

Home baked persimmon bread, zuccini bread and cookies from foreign lands will be featured at the bake sale to be held Saturday, January 31 in Kersting Court. Sierra Madre Civic Club is sponsoring the sale and all income will go toward the operation of Toy Loan.

Toy Loan, which serves approximately 200 children in the area, is a toylending library which combines the pleasures of using a variety of toys with a character building opportunity. No charge is made for the service. Toys are made and repaired by handicapped persons at a county center and are distributed to the various Toy Loans in the county.

Sierra Madre Toy Loan's expenses are paid by the Sierra Madre Civic Club and the club also handles all interior maintenance of the Toy Loan building in Memorial Park.

Mystery Novels At Local Library

The Hardy boys and Nancy Drew have finally been detected in the Children's Room at the Sierra Madre Public Library. Now you can watch as these detectives and their chums foil any and all plans of evil-doings. These young people are now solving mystery after mystery.

One mystery in need of a solution is why so few people realize that there are film loops shown daily in the Children's Library. These silent motion pictures are both entertaining and educational. Children are invited to watch any time of day.

The atmosphere of the Children's Room is also being brightened by the addition of posters which line the walls. Each of these is laminated in plastic to protect it and is available for anyone to check out. Brighten up your room, home, or age with a soft, loud, serious, or funny poster, is the invitation offered by the library.

parent-teachers twice a week, thus defraying a significant portion of the comparatively modest nursery school expenses.

In addition to the nursery school program, a kindergarten program is available from 1 to 4 five afternoons a week. The class size is kept small to insure individualized attention for each child. The program follows the philosophy of the nursery school and prepares each child for first grade. The program is enriched by field trips to such places as the Planetarium, airport and other area institutions.

Parents of prospective students are invited to arrange an appointment to visit the school, located at 701 E. Sierra Madre Blvd. in Sierra Madre, by calling the director, Mrs. Lillian Burke, at 355-1655.

Fire

Though the Los Angeles County Fire Department is hosting the training, other departments cooperate by sending their Spanish speaking officers who will serve as instructors. Each Bombero is given a training manual completely translated into Spanish. All instructors speak Spanish fluently so that instruction is more easily received by the Bomberos. Included in the program will be training in fighting structure and oil fires, paramedic demonstration, a static display of fire-fighting equipment and explanation of its use, air crash tactics, fire boat and scuba demonstration.

For relaxation, the City of Industry will host a barbeque and Universal Studios will host a tour of their facilities. Graduation will be held on February 13, at Bateman Hall, Century and Bullis in Lynwood. The Bomberos return to Mexico on February 14.

County Division Assistant Fire Chief Ron King is spearheading all arrangements, capably assisted by Battalion Chief Rudy Duran and his committee.

"We are pleased to host this most worthwhile training program for the Bomberos and extend our thanks to all cooperating cities and fire agencies. We know the program will be most beneficial to the Mexican firefighters and will enhance and improve their knowledge and professionalism in their dedicated duty of saving lives and protecting property," said Los Angeles County Fire Chief Richard H. Houts.

Empoyees'

and not the City Administrator as provided in Section 2254 of the same ordinance, then it would appear that the employment status of the Library employees must be clarified.

Since written opinion of the Assistant City Attorney confirms the authority of the administration of the Library personnel by the Library Board, the following recommendation was given the Council by the City Administrator.

"If the Library employees are to continue to be under the exclusive authority of the Library Board, then it would seem appropriate for their names to be withdrawn from the membership of the Association, for when recognized they become a collective and bargaining unit for the negotiation of salaries, wages, benefits and related conditions of employment."

The Council temporarily rejected the recognition pending clarification of the employment status of the Library personnel or their resignation from the pending Association.

COUNCIL FINISHES AGENDA

Having met as a Board of the Sierra Madre Community Redevelopment Agency at the hour of 7:15, adjourned and reconvened as the Sierra Madre City Council at the hour of 7:30, Joseph Delgatto Sr. called the Council to order with the Flag saluate and invocation, and after the approval of the minutes of the previous meeting called upon the audience to address the Council on any problems they so desired.

The Mayor then turning to official reports presented a letter from the Sierra Madre Civic Club, wherein they requested permission to conduct a Bake Sale in Kersting Court on Saturday, January 31; proceeds of the sale would be dedicated to the local Toy Loan. Council gave approval to the project.

A request was then presented from the Sierra Madre Cultural Heritage Committee from its chairman Daniel Parker, wherein they named a series of some 35 houses that were built from 1854 to 1902 that they considered and defined as cultural and aesthetic landmarks of the city and proposed to secure some 30 plaques for placement, at a cost of $1,080, claiming that they already had a fund of $240 toward defraying the expense. City Council accepted the report and authorized the placing of the plaques, but not committing itself to any expenditures at this time.

A communication from the Sierra Madre Police Association over the signature of Sgt. C. D. Christensen, president, asked that the Council give recognition to the Association to be known as the Sierra Madre Police Association as the official representative body for the police employees. The Association consists of 17 active members of the Police Department, naming five of them who would be authorized to speak for the membership. Due to section 2253 of Ordinance No. 926, the newly formed association meets all of the requirements and by Council action such recognition was duly given.

Having completed the agenda at hand, Mayor Delgatto again called upon the audience for participation, and then turned to the Deputy City Attorney and the City Administrator for any input they desired and then called upon each Councilman present to present any projects of their desire, after which th Council adjourned

Irvin Betts To Be S. M. Police Chief

At the regular meeting of the City Council held Tuesday, January 21, Councilman Abernethy made the motion that Irvin Betts, Acting Chief of Police be recognized as Chief of Police of the City of Sierra Madre.

The motion received a second and was unanimously approved. Chief of Police Betts and his wife have been requested to be at the next regular meeting of the Council a which time they will present him with his official badge.

City Council Gives P. O. Approval

Three Purchase Orders were presented to the City Council at its regular meeting of Tuesday, January 27, they being over the amount authorized by staff, and must have the approval of the Council. They were Orders No. 5309, 5324 and 5325.

The Orders alluded respectively to: Membership and insurance for the Police Department personnel in the amount of $726; the provisions for the printing of departmental bond and memeo letterheads in the amount of $503; and the printing of the Winter Recreation brochure and newsletter in the amount of $509.90.

Retirement Costs

Court cases may force some major costs upon taxpayers for retirement programs.

In Oregon a federal district court judge has ruled Oregon may not pay women lower pensions than men because actuarial tables indicate they will live longer than men. In effect, this will raise the contributions which must be made up from public funds.

In Los Angeles, the California Nurses Association has filed suit against the county, charging the county requires women to make a larger contribution to the retirement system than men make.

The suit charges a woman earning $1,000 a month would pay $3,276 more into the retirement system than her male counterpart by the time they reached age 65.

Both suits are attacking the problem from different angles.

Vandalism!

by County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn

Nearly a half million dollars of taxpayers money is lost every month due to vandalism in the schools, Supervisor Kenneth Hahn reported this week.

Last school year, the average monhtly loss was $525,259 and the year before it was $590,057.

So far this school year, the monthly loss has averaged $472,594.

"These startling statistics show there is immediate need to take new action to stop this destruction in our schools and loss of taxpayers' money," Hahn said.

There number of vandalism incidents is averaging 100 a day, Hahn added.

"Over the last few years, I have suggested able-bodied men on welfare be given the assignment of patrolling the schools at night," he said.

"This was tried on an experimental basis in Inglewood and was a success. However, other school districts refused to take part in the program.

The idea was for the able-bodied persons, who can't find jobs but are able to work, to carry a flashlight and a whistle and to simply be on the school grounds at night.

"If they discover a problem, they call the police," Hahn said.

"They wouldn't be armed and they wouldn't be policemen, but their very presence would discourage vandalism."

Hahn believes there also is need for greater education in the schools to reduce vandalism.

"Many detestable acts are committed by students of the same school that is vandalized," he said.

"The California Council on Criminal Justice was developed to deal with such problems and grant money should be available."

Hahn's proposals which the Board of Supervisors has endorsed included:

— County Chief Administrative Officer Harry Hufford and Directoo of Public Social Services Ellis P. Murphy being insrtucted to report on ways to revive the program of having able-bodied men on welfare serve as watchmen in all schools of the county.

— Hufford and Justice Action Coordinating Committee being requested to develop an education program for reducing vandalism in the schools, which can be submitted to the California Council on Criminal Justice.

Reports on the two proposals are due in February.

Child Support Round-Up

by District Attorney John K. Van de Kamp

I am announcing our intention to stage a round-up of fathers who have outstanding warrants for failure to provide child support.

Our action is aimed at approximately five hundred delinquent fathers.

I am announcing our intention at this time to give these fathers the opportunity to voluntarily surrender to regional child support offices where they will receive citations to appear in court.

Those who do not surrender will be arrested, booked at the nearest sheriff's substation and arraigned at the proper municipal court in the usual manner.

The child support violation is a violation of Section 270 of the California Penal Code.

The money owed by these target fathers is approximately $720,000. Our goal is to get these fathers to pay up. If we're successful, it means that we're going to save the taxpayers of Los Angeles County most of the sum of $720,000, since the fathers' failure to provide has compelled most of the mothers and children involved to go on welfare.

It is the purpose of this announcement today to urge delinquent fathers to come forward and square their accounts as soon as possible. I am not going to reveal the day of the round-up, but I can tell you that the warrants will not be executed in the next seven days. They will be executed sometime after this seven day period by 130 investigators who have been assigned to this project.

For those who are delinquent and wish to settle up, go to or call your nearest child support office. It will be listed in the phone book under District Attorney. Or for information, call the following number: 974-5926.

Let me give you some idea of the extent of our present enforcement obligations in the area of child support.

At the end of November, the District Attorney's Office was working on 98,684 child support cases. During that month: 7,878 welfare support cases were opened; 1,816 welfare cases were reopened; 257 non-welfare support cases were opened; 133 non-welfare cases were re-opened.

As a result of our work approximately $2 million in child support is collected each month. Most of that $2 million would have come out of the taxpayers' pockets in the form of welfare if we didn't collect it.

Enforcement is a significant problem. We are now in the process of increasing our enforcement capacity.

This round-up is but one means to achieve strong enforcement.

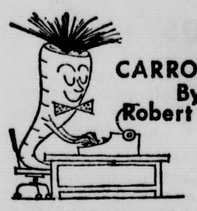

I will have more to say about this on the day of the round-up.

paired people the way you repair cars, I'd be in jail."

— CT —

"But, doctor," the Auto Body Man said, "You must admit your job is a lot easier than mine." "Easier?" screamed the doctor . . . . "Of course, doctor. You only have to work on two models, male and female which never change from one year to the next." . . . Now just what could anybody have to say about those explanations?

— CT —

My attention was called to a TV program the other day by my younger daughters. The program was from a local Los Angeles station in the middle of Sunday afternoon. Teenagers were staging a dance.

— CT —

You know, it's funny these days. When kids dance, they don't talk, they don't touch one another, they don't even look at each other. To me it's like being married for 30 years. I just do not dig the whole procedure . . . The gap is just too far for me to jump.

— CT —

Over the past couple of weeks I have heard much criticism about many things in Sierra Madre, and as I traveled about town I kept thinking of a poem that I had once read and had filed away for future use. This week I found that poem, and I publish it for each of you. It does have a very dear message for all of us, not that I am laying any more blame on anyone than I do myself, as this poem fits all of us . . . Read it, clip it and save it, I think it is worth the space that I have given to it.

BUILDING

I watched them tearing a building down
A gang of men in a busy town
With a ho-heave-ho and a lusty yell,
They swung a beam and the side wall fell.

I asked the foreman: "Are these men skilled —
The kind you would hire
if you wanted to build?"
He laughed and said:
"Why no, indeed,
Just common labor is all
I need;
They can easily wreck in a day or two
What builders have taken years to do."

I asked myself, as I went
my way,
Which of these roles have
I tried today?
Am I a builder who works
with care,
Measuring life by the rule
and square,
Shaping my deeds by the well-made plan,
Patiently doing the best I can?
Of am I a wrecker who
walks the town,
Content with the labor of tearing down?

— CT —

Of course with poems such as this, and the fact that some people will not listen to it, , I find many other people are like a horse that was owned by a farmer friend of mine, and I will tell you about the first time that I noticed that horse.

— CT —

This farmer friend was driving the horse along a scarcely traveled road and every now and then the horse would stop suddenly and then would start up again with much difficulty.

— CT —

Noticing this I asked the farmer friend, "What's the matter with your horse, is he sick?" "No," explained the farmer. "This horse is so scared I'll say 'whoa' and he won't hear me, that he stop every once in a while to listen" . . . Do you get the connection . . . maybe?

— CT —

So I'll close the column with this bit of risque . . . A woman had two pet monkeys. One day one of them died. The other immediately took sick, refused to eat, and died of a broken heart. The woman felt very bad and, wishing to preserve them, took them to a taxidermist.

— CT —

"Do you want to have these monkeys mounted?" ask the taxidermist . . . "Oh no," replied the lady, "Just have them holding hands."

— CT —

Well, as usual, it comes time to close the column, and as expected I guess you depend on me to end up with some bit of advice . . . but I am up that well well known creek without a paddle, so I will close with a bit of a remark about "Women," that being my favorite subject anyway.

— CT —

"Women are acting and living more like men every day, and it's fine with me. If I am comfortably settled, why should I get up to light their cigarettes?" . . . Like Fire Chief Charley Brown said to me the other day . . . "Bob, do men really make passes at girls who wear glasses?" . . . My only answer at the moment was . . . "Well, Chief, it usually depends upon the frames" . . . I hope, I hope, I hope.

These are popular, nongraded, free semester courses in which all of the basic bookkeeping procedures will be taught; information on personal finances will also be included — come on the first night of the beginning class for a lecture on balancing your budget! Come early to be assured a seat!

A Certificate of Completion will be given in these classes to those students meeting the requirements of completing the course. For additional information on these classes, call 578-7261.

Rummage Sale To Beneift Children Jan. 31 - Feb. 1

The first annual rummage sale for the benefit of Villa Esperanza, home for retarded children in Pasadena, will be conducted by the San Gabriel Valley Chapter of Unico National on Saturday and Sunday, January 31 and February 1.

Toni Venti, chairman of the event and Alhambra realtor, said the sale would be conducted at Villa Esperanza, 3060 West Valley Blvd., at the intersection of the Long Beach Freeway from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days.

He said that trucks donated by Dominic Longo, board chairman and El Monte Toyota dealer, are now available to pick up rummage sale merchandise any place in the city.

Venti said he is looking for exercise equipment, bicycles, household furnishings, such as sofas, couches, home appliances, usable and clean clothing for men, women and children, tools, radios, TV sets, stereos, antiques, office furniture, box springs, chairs, nursery plants, or anything that is saleable.

People who wish to donate such merchandise are urged to call Venti at 282-6121, or 283-2906, or Longo Toyota and ask for Jonsey at 686-1000, or 442-1011.

Sal Ioele, president of the San Gabriel chapter, said the public is invited to attend the rummage sale. Net proceeds will be donated to Villa Esperanza.

Our 25th Anniversary In Sierra Madre

Neighbors . . Out of the Cobwebs of Our Files

Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge new president, Robert W. Miller, will be guest spaker at the annual executive luncheon and 20th anniversary celebration of the Wilshire Business and Professional Women's Club on February 12. The event will take place at the Los Angeles Club, with the reception beginning at 11:30 a.m., followed by luncheon at 12:15 p.m., it was announced by the club's president, Mrs. Janet Souter. Vice president-program Mrs. Joyce Morrissey is in charge of the program.

— ON THE SCENE FOR 65 YEARS THE SIERRA MADRE NEWS

Sixty-Five Years Ago: January 27, 1911

At a called meeting of the directors of the Board of Trade Monday evening it was decided to indorse the proposed transfer of the holdings of the Water Company to the city and a committe was appointed to do what is possible to bring the matter to a favorable vote at the annual meeting of the company's stockholders on February 9.

Plans for the big flower festival to be given over Sierra Madre in April have been going forward rapidly. Considerable work has been done in preparing the ground and planting of the lots adjacent to the club house.

Eldred Yule has been showing considerable ability as a trapper recently, numbering several foxes and wildcats among his trophies. He recently secured a live fox in the mountains which he bropght home and kept in captivity.

Several Sierra Madre people attended the Ellis Club concert at Simpson Auditorium, Los Angles, Tuesday evening. It was the second concert of the fifteenth season of the club.

A helping station has been established at the southeast corner of Auburn and Highland Avenue. While it is under the auspices of the Woman's Club it is under the personal supervision of Mrs. C. W. Mitchell. All kinds of cooked foods will be kept on sale, and while especial attention will be paid to the needs of the sick there will be a large enough variety to suit all classes of people and it is hoped enough business can be secured to make the venture self-supporting.

Fifty-Five Years Ago: January 28, 1921

A woman in this city had a valuable trained pet pigeon — a happy, harmless bird. A boy next door had a rifle. He saw the pigeon, shot and killed it The woman is unhappy over the ruthless unnecessary death of her pet, and the boy violated the law by using firerarms for such a purpose within the city. He broke two laws, the civil law and nature's law by the wanton destruction of a harmless creature.

The Sunday School class of Miss Mora Polsue enjoyed a picnic in Monrovia Canyon Saturday. The boys say that they had a fine time in spite of the threatening weather.

The Firemen's Ball was all that could be asked for. The weather was ideal and the club house not large enough to accommodate all those who wished to dance at one time. Harrington's orchestra furnished the music.

The Foster family, living at 65 South Baldwin Avenue, have purchased a Studebaker Special . . . A. M. Benton of San Pedro and Mrs. George A. Peterson of 72 Suffolk Avenue, each purchased a Ford touring car.

Parents are warned that they will be responsible for the safety of their children if they play about the garage or on the fire engine. Some of the Sierra Madre children have been going into the garage and playing over the engine, and some of the older ones have trifled with the machinery.

Pork prices have been going up and down for the past two weeks, varying in price from 2 to 7 cents.

Thirty Years Ago: January 24, 1946

Changes are taking place mightv fast in Sierra Madre. The Wistaria will be known in the future as the Sierra Madre Theatre, so stated the new owner, Harold Stein. Mr. and Mrs. Stein are fine young people who are planning to give Sierra Madre an excellent movie house.

The same goodies cookies, cakes, etc., will be in the cases but Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Decker will not be behind the counter. After 16 years of continuous service to the community the Deckers have sold the Wistaria Bake Shop to Lawrence

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

As you watch with your own eyes the disintegration of a world once splendid in God's order and the fall of country after country into the horrible morass of Communism, what would it take to kindle an awareness, and then to convince you beyond the shadow of a doubt that there is a pattern behind the ugly chaos that prevails in all corners of the globe?

Could it be the knowing words of Franklin Roosevelt — "In politics, nothing happens by accident. If it happens, you can bet it was planned that way."

Or perhaps the insolence of F.D.R.'s Henry Kissinger, Harry Hopkins, who planned and supervised the fatal covert giveaways to Russia in the 1940's, when he proclaimed: "Tax and tax, spend and spend, elect and elect. The people are too damn dumb to understand."

Or the penetrating statement of James Forrestal, our Republic's first secretary of defense: "Consistency never has been a mark of stupidity. If the diplomats who have mishandled our relations with Russia were merely stupid, they would occasionally make a mistake in our favor."

Or the observation of Thomas Jefferson: "Single acts of tyranny may be ascribed to the accidental opinion of a day; but a series of oppressions, begun at a distinguished period, and pursued unalterably through every change of ministers, too plainly prove a deliverate, systematical plan of reducing us to slavery."

Or certainly the gripping words of Woodrow Wilson: "There is a power somewhere so organized, so subtle, so watchful, so interlocked, so complete, so pervasive that they better not speak above their breath when they speak in condemnation of it."

Why listen to the deceivers of podium, pulpit and press who say there is no conspiracy, when such Titans of politics have admitted there is one? Rather, let the meaning of their words sink in and then decide: Is the ongoing destruction of our Constitutional Republic an accident? Or has it all been planned that way?

Ivy Show Set For Jan. 31 - Feb. 1st

The California Chapter of the American Ivy Society will present the first ivy show in the state at the Los Angeles State and County Arbortum in Arcadia Saturday and Sunday, January 31 and February 1.

Although ivy is one of the most popular of landscaping plants in Southern California, most people are familiar with only two or three among the dozens of existing varieties. Chairmen of the forthcoming show hope to correct this situation in their first full-scale presentation which will be divided into two major divisions, horticultural and artistic, with 20 competitive classes in each judged by members of the American Ivy Society.

Accountants To Hold Meeting

The San Gabriel Valley Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will have a professional development meeting to be held on Thursday, January 15, at 10540 Valley Boulevard, El Monte. The meeting will be conducted by Dr. Reed M. Powell, dean, School of Business Administration, California State Polytechnic University, Pomona.

All accountants living or working in this area are invited to attend this meeting and dinner. Information and reservations can be obtained by calling Anita Ross at 445-7960.

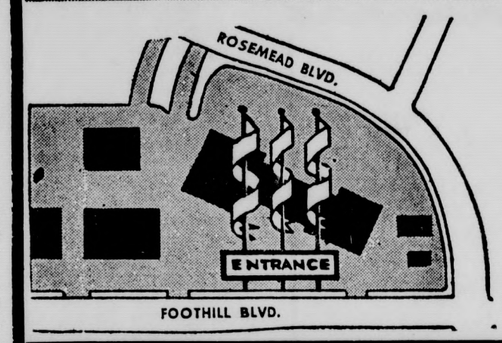

The NAA is essentially an education and research organization in the field of management accounting. Founded in 1919 it is presently the largest accounting organization in the United States.

INVESTMENTS IN GROWTH STOCKS

by Thomas O'Hara

Q. — I get confused as to what "long term" means in the stock market. To me a year seems like a long term, yet I notice in your investment club literature you talk in terms of five years. How long is long term?

A. — In the stock market there are all kinds of cycles which run from as little as a few days to as long as 25 or 30 years. The individual who is a trader tries to make money by buying and selling mostly on the shorter cycles. Others find following the longer cycles is a much more dependable way to judge results. The Treasury Department makes a difference for tax purposes between long and short term at six months. That really has nothing to do with the cycles at work in the stock markets.

In investment clubs we talk a lot about five-year periods because we think it is important to look at the progress we make from one business peak to the next. While such peaks may not be exactly five years apart, they are likely to be several years apart and the five years is just a way of reminding us that there is a long time between periods.

One of the very long-term cycles in the stock market is shown by the way the average price - earnings ratio that stocks sell at has changed. On a group of about 3,000 stocks that one organization follows, the average times earnings at which those stocks sold at the end of 1974 was 5.1. A few years ago that average was as high as 17.3. To get averages as low as those at which stocks sold at in 1974, you have to go back to the late 1940's, or roughly 25-27 years.

Many security analysts feel that price - earnings ratios hit a long-term bottom in 1974 and that we are the end of 1975 that average which was 5.1 in 1974 had increased to 6.8.

A sizeable change in average price - earnings ratios has always in the past taken years to develop. When it does take place it causes wonderful things to happen to stock prices. For instance at the 1974 ratio of 5.1, $1 worth of earnings sold for $5.10 while at the 17.3 ratio it would sell for $17.30.

If 1974 was the bottom of a long-term cycle for stock price - earnings ratios and if we are now going to see a long-term increase in those ratios the effect on stock prices could be tremendous. That, hwever, involves one of the stock market cycles that is more likely to be measured in tens of years rather than in months.

Q. — Marion Laboratories is a stock I own and which seemed to be the favorite of many investment writers for some period of time. Since its earnings came down in the past year I hear very little about it. Would you comment on it please?

A. — It is natural for a company that has grown rapidly for a long period of time to occasionally run into a problem that breaks its record of growth. The recent break that Marion had was the first in a long period of time, and we would expect that the company would soon resume its growth rate. It may have suffered a longer terms interruption in its popularity with professional and institutional investors because from reports I hear a number of these individuals feel the management did not clearly point out the severity and duration of its problems. This could react to reduce the number of buyers of Marion in the future even though the company resumes its growing earnings trend.

State Expects To Refund $575 Million In Refunds Shared By 5.5 Million

More than 5.5 million Californians will share $575 million in State Income Tax refunds this year, State Controller Kenneth Cory said recently.

"After the Franchise Tax Board completes processing returns filed by early-bird taxpayers we are prepared to start issuing their refund checks immediately," Cory said. "Obviously, those who file their tax refunds first will get their refunds first."

Most of the refunds will be made to persons whose income tax was overwithheld from wages. Other refunds will go to non-withholding taxpayers who overpaid on tax estimates, and to people who occupy rented homes but do not have income tax liability matching or exceeding their Renters Tax Credit.

Cory said the Franchise Tax Board expects almost 8.5 million income tax returns to be filed during 1976, and 8.1 million of those are expected between January 1 and the April 15 filing deadline.

"Early filing not only will help taxpayers get their refunds earlier, it will reduce the size of the log jam which is inevitable as April 15 grows nearer," Cory said.

Income tax filing forms and instructions for completing them already have been mailed to most taxpayers.

"Each taxpayer can speed up his own refund by carefully following the instructions, properly completing and signing the tax return, and mailing it as early as possible," Cory said.

Last year the Controller issued over 5.2 million State Income Tax withholding refunds at an average of $98.90 per refund.

Area Boy Scout Earns New Award
